MEMORANDUM OF JUDGMENT
DELIVERED FROM THE BENCH

[1] VEALE J. (Oral): I am going to make the following provisional order.

[2] Mr. Geddes was ordered to pay $852 per month, commencing November 1, 1999, based on a guideline income of $56,507. As a result of going on a pension with the R.C.M.P., his income has been reduced. His pensionable income is $20,585.67. I am going to impute an additional annual income of $10,000 based on his ability to obtain employment, from time to time, in Teslin. So his income, both real and imputed, will be $30,585.67, and that is effective on April 10, 2002.

[3] The result is that, as of April 2002, Mr. Geddes should have paid a guidelines table amount of $450 per month, and counsel have agreed that the calculation of arrears that have accumulated since April 10, 2002 is approximately $7,200.

[4] So I am, therefore, going to order that the arrears, which presently stand at approximately $9,580, be reduced by $7,200, which leaves outstanding arrears of $2,380. I am going to order that Mr. Geddes pay the arrears in the sum of $100 per month. So his total monthly payment will be $550 until the arrears have been paid, and at that time it will be $450 per month.

[5] Have I covered it all, counsel?

[6] MS. WELLMAN: I believe so.

[7] MS. MORRIS: I think so, Your Honour.

[8] MS. CAIRNS: That is all, thank you.

[9] THE COURT: Thank you, counsel.
